

BuzziRing

A Smart, Compact and acoustic Pod for the Contemporary Workplace

Introduction

BuzziRing is the smallest room that aids privacy and concentration, an optimal solution for open-office layouts seen ubiquitous today.

The Story

Reflecting the brand's roots in innovative human-centric design, we introduce BuzziRing, a wall-mounted temporary workspace that is compact yet artfully functional for today's office needs.

The cocooning shape of BuzzRing immediately gives out a sense of comfort and invitation. The upholstered foam body instantaneously creates an acoustically-proofed sanctuary. This unique feature rids outside visual distraction and noises by soaking up sound waves from crowded surroundings and prevent them from bouncing back into the room; being optimal for business calls, video conferences or simply permits focus work.

Offered in a range of color and fabric options, BuzziRing also features a built-in table in Antwerp Oak or white laminate, and a functional light with two USB ports for charging. An optional transparent screen ensures social distancing if you'd like to use it as a meeting room. Designed with diversity and versatility in mind, the ergonomic oval shape of BuzziRing accommodates different heights for everyone, sitting or standing.
