Career

A Textile Designer who studied textile design in Japan and Finland and pursues a design that brings out surprise, joy and interaction between textiles and people. Her creative style, that originates from the design of her own weaving mechanism allows her to initiate unique concepts with twists, such as SNIP SNAP textiles, that lets users to get involved in arranging the design of their textile, by cutting or altering the fabric (motion-textiles), in a way that changes its images by angles or sides. She is also active in designing facade installations, brand directions and artworks for commercial complexes. In 2017, she has been nominated, by Dwell Magazine, as “Young Guns”, emerging Talent in the Design Industry. Afterwards she received the IFFT/InteriorLifestyle living Young Designer Award 2017. In 2018, she has been invited to exhibit her works in Ambiente (Frankfurt), and then in Milan, where she received the Third Prize of the “Salone Satellite Award”. For her achievements, ELLE DECO decide to bestow her the “International Design Awards 2018” as Young Japanese Design Talents.
